A.J.C. AUTUMN MEETING.

FOURTH DAY.

SATURDAY, APRIL 20.

Committee. Messrs. Alexander Mackellar (chairman), W. B. Walford (hon. treasurer), V. J. Dowling, R. Jones, Hon. Geo. Lee, Hon. W. A. Long, Hon. C. A. Goodchap, Hon. H. C. Dangar, Messrs. J. W. Johnson, M. W. Traill, W. R. Hall; judge, Mr. A. Benson; starter, Mr. Thomas Watson; handicapper, Mr. F. Wilkinson; hon. timekeeper, Mr. John Daly; clerk of the course, Mr. Joseph Kean; Mr. T. S. Clibborn, secretary.

The A.J.C. Autumn meeting was brought to a termination at Randwick on Saturday, in the presence of upwards of 10,000 spectators, and better weather for the enjoyment of racing could not be desired, for the sun beamed forth from an unclouded sky, and an invigorating breeze from the nor'-east reduced the atmosphere to a pleasant temperature. The trams, 'buses, and other vehicular means of transit were well patronised, while thousands, taking advantage of the dry roads and beautiful weather, journeyed on foot to and from the trysting-place. Nothing was wanted at headquarters to render the reunion enjoyable, for the caterer, Mr. F. Forster, had his arrangements complete for supplying the requirements of the hungry and thirsty. The appointments left no room for complaint, and the cheering and harmonious strains of the New South Wales Artillery Regimental Band lent an additional charm to the afternoon's sport. Most of the sportsmen that commenced the campaign on the previous Saturday, and witnessed the vicissitudes of the two succeeding days, were present to take part in the final scene of the equine drama, and the greatest interest was sustained in the racing throughout. Though the Steeplechase was responsible for the only mishaps that occurred, the falls were harmless ones. Dart came down at an early stage of the game over the sodwall at the back, treating his rider (Higgins) to a somersault; the formidable "logs" at the old Derby corner proved too much for Grandwing, on whom P. Nolan had the mount. Reckless came to grief near the half-mile post, and the aptly-named Curiosity, a great raking skewbald from the Warren district, toppled over the set of rails opposite Oxenham's; but his rider, C. Piper, was quickly in the saddle again, and chased the field home. For the first and only time through the meeting did any friction occur with regard to the racing, and that was in connection with the finish for the A.J.C. Plate, a finish that will long be remembered by those who witnessed it, for towards the close of the three-miles contest The Harvester, Chesterman, and Havoc were locked together, and, though wearied out with the long journey, they were battling it out with the greatest determination. Havoc on the inside appeared to bore out when within 50 yards of the post, and just managed to get the judge's verdict. On returning to scale two protests were lodged—one by the owner of Chesterman, who was next to Havoc, for interference, and the second by the owner of The Harvester on similar grounds against Chesterman. Notwithstanding the fact that the alleged interference took place right under the observation of the stewards, the investigation, which commenced at a quarter past 4, did not terminate until nearly 7 o'clock, a large majority of the cash bettors remaining until the decision was made known. Considering the simplicity of the case, which involved nothing more than the stewards could have seen for themselves, numbers of witnesses were called, and finally both protests were dismissed, a decision that met with the cordial approval of the many backers of the favourite. Having the experience of the previous three days' racing as a guide, the speculative public were more fortunate in their selections than hitherto, and in four out of the six events on the card the popular selections claimed the verdict of the judge. Taken right through the racing was of a high-class character, and public interest in the sport was greatly enhanced by the presence of the Victorian horses that competed in the different events. No fault could be found with the general management, for which the secretary, Mr. T. S. Clibborn was responsible, and his duties were considerably lightened by the able assistance he received from Messrs. T. R. Evans and James Perry. Though he had several very close finishes on which to adjudicate during the reunion, Mr. A. Benson was equal to the exigencies of the situation, and his decisions were never questioned, and the other officials were also successful in the performance of their respective duties; while the ranger, W. Woodburn, deserves the greatest credit for the excellent condition of the track and the grand stand reserves.

DRESSES AND ATTENDANCE.

The closing day was in every respect a bright contrast to the opening of the meeting. The weather was fine and warm, quite summer in temperature, and the new gowns had all the advantage which the clear sky and bright sun could give them. The carriage paddock was largely occupied, and presented something like the appearance of former days. Mr. Terry and Mr. S. Hordern had their drags. Mrs. Hutton, Mrs. Pendergast, Mrs. White, Mrs. Dangar, Mrs. Arthur Allen, Mrs. Walter Hall, Miss Walker (Waratah), Mrs. Williamson, Mrs. Macdonald, Mrs. H. Harris, Mr. W. P. Martin (tandem), and others had their carriages, in and around which at luncheon time gay groups were gathered: the sheds also were in request at luncheon. The Hon. and Mrs. Moses entertained a party of 20, which included Mr. Richard Jones and Misses Jones, Mr. and Mrs. North (Queensland), Dr. and Mrs. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Marsden, Dr. and Mrs. G. L. Mullins, Mrs. and the Misses Moses, Mr. T. J. Marks, Mr. Hamilton Lake, Mr. Keane (Bombala), &c.

When the visitors reassembled after luncheon the lawn and grand stand presented a gay scene, to which the vivid colouring in the ladies' toilettes much contributed. The new combinations, which have been aptly described as the "fuchsia shades," were well illustrated, and the blending of deep rich reds with various shades of violet in many instances most effectively carried out, though to name them by the several classes of colours employed they would sound incongruous. The attention which the violet received in millinery is extraordinary. The simple modest flower is which is always welcomed for its fragrance, is copied in all shades of purple, and contrary to nature is imitated in black; a cluster (or clusters) of violets finds favour in combination with the daintiest chiffon and with the richest velvets, and is seen alike in the new ruffles, in hats, and in bonnets.

Mrs. Edward Hutton, with a skirt of dark green silk having fine horizontal lines in black, wore a blouse bodice and sleeves of black accordeon-pleated chiffon made over white silk, white ruffles, and Honiton cape of black cloth and velvet, black hat. Miss Granville's dress was a white silk, striped with dove-grey and figured in a handsome floral scroll. Mrs. B. C. Dangar's gown was of a rich petunia purple shade in corded silk, and trimmed with gold gimp and cream guipure. Miss Dangar's bonnet was of the same shade, and consisted of a wreath of violets, with cherry collar, and cherry loops in the black hat. Miss E. Dangar wore two shades of violet. Mrs. Prendergast's toilette was one of the richest and most novel seen, the gown was the new silk material resembling the old moreen, with the bodice in fuchsia-purple velvet, striped in pale grey and chine, the new ruffle in pink chiffon-en grouped puffs, with a cluster of violets on either side in front — reached nearly to the waist, the bishop sleeves were of the silk like the skirt, the colour hard to describe, rose pink in one light, with a glow of violet across it; the bonnet was of several scallop shell shapes in fine jet, with velvet loops of fuchsia pink, gold spangles, and pink osprey. Miss Fitzgerald's white satin, with a tiny figure in black, was combined with crevette pink, and worn with a black lace and feathers, with violets introduced. Miss Eadith Walker wore a blue and blouse of turquoise silk, figured with black spots, skirt of new fabric in black silk, brown fancy straw hat with brown loops and violets. Mrs. Consett Stephen's gown was of dark forest-green, the bodice having broad bands of black and white lace insertion, black hat and feathers. Mrs. W. B. Mitchell wore heliotrope and pale blue checked silk, with plain blue satin belt and collar and biscuit-coloured lace draping the bodice. Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Fairfax, Mr. and Mrs. J. Oswald Fairfax were present, with Mr. and Mrs. Curry. Mrs. A. H. Macarthur wore one of the new chiffon ruffles in black, and having clusters of violets, with a black crepon gown. Miss Enid Macarthur wore buttercup silk crêpe with novel trimmings in vieux rose. Mrs. J. W. Flood, with a gown of fancy black woollen material, had a deep square collar and vest combined of a rich fuchsia-red velvet bordered with cream lace; the skirt was edged with an inch wide band of the same rich-tinted velvet; the small bonnet had the front of velvet with a sort of aureole in white satin brocade rising at the back, white osprey and Parisian diamond ornaments introduced. Mrs. H. Pringle wore black and green; Miss N. Hill, navy-blue poplin skirt, with bodice and sleeves of fancy blue silk. Mrs. Henry Bracy wore black, the bonnet relieved with bows of cherry velvet. Mrs. Alexander Busby's pretty gown was of white silk, striped with black. Mrs. W. E. Mort's perfectly-fitting gown was of deep forest-green crepon, in new design, trimmed with darker green velvet, and having a broad vest of white silk veiled with handsome guipure. Mrs. C. W. Marsden's dress was of silk and wool woven in red and fawn, with sleeves of green moire and bodice of green veiled with black chiffon trimmings of passementerie, and handsome black hat. Mrs. P. J. Collins with a black skirt wore a blouse of dark green silk striped with black lines and figured with tiny pink flowers. Mrs. G. L. Mullins chose heliotrope, striped silk for blouse, with black skirt. Mrs. Henry Moses wore black silk with lace and jet trimmings, the black bonnet with blue loops. The Misses Moses wore royal blue cloth with vests and collars of gendarme silk. Mrs. North's black dress had full vest and sleeves of China blue figured silk. Mrs. Donald M'Intyre wore black velvet, with blouse of green silk, bonnet of green and black. Miss Gore's fagn skirt was worn with turquoise silk blouse and fawn vest. Mrs. J. R. Gray's dress was of green, gold, and black in small checks; the short jacket of quite new shape, having a deep square collar, fringed with small bullion acorns; the front is open over a full blouse of turquoise silk, with a band of broad Oriental embroidery across the neck portion, small toque of turquoise and black velvet. Mrs. F. Moore, petunia-coloured gown trimmed with grey and gold; Miss Marks (Glenrock), violet and black checked gamel's hair cloth, black hat, violet trimmings; Mrs. W. R. Campbell, chiné silk with electric-blue sleeves and vest; Mrs. Frank Davenport, black gown, with yoke and sleeves of cherry silk; Mrs. Gale, black; Mrs. Coghlan, checked silk with navy blue silk and cream guipure trimmings. Mrs. Duffy (Melbourne), black. Mrs. Slate, grey gown, grey and yellow in bonnet. Miss Dibbs, navy blue, merveilleux, black hat. Mrs. Scott, black. Miss Edith Manning, dove-coloured cloth tailor-made costume with vest of white floral silk and jabot of lace, black hat. Miss Clibborn, light vieux-rose toilette. Mrs. Shelley, petunia and black-figured dress stuff. Miss Mansfield. Mrs. Westgarth, navy blue and pink. Mrs. F. Macdonald, black rough serge, with deep cherry velvet, square collar and revers; cherry toque, with buttercup bow and cluster of violets. Mrs. W. R. Wilson, black. Mrs. Arthur Tooth, navy blue, with red velvet accessories. Mrs. W. P. Morton, black, rough woollen stuff, with cardinal velvet yoke, veiled with jet. Miss Hay, tabac brown cloth, with blue velvet. Mrs. Cosbin, China blue, with figured brown velvet. Miss Nott, tan-cloth with brown velvet. Mrs. Mullins, dark red gown, with blue vest and collar. Miss Hughes vieux-rose and tan. Mrs. Inglis, black, pink and black bonnet. Mrs. R. Henderson, mauve brocade, white chiffon sleeves. Mrs. Broomfield, who visited the racecourse for the first time, wore a black dress, with heliotrope bonnet. Miss Broomfield, fancy grass silk blouse, black skirt, black hat with violets. Mrs. Matthew Harris, also at Randwick for the first time, wore bodice of rose pink, veiled with black lace, black silk skirt; Miss Harris in grey and coral pink; Miss Paul, royal blue; Mrs. C. J. Roberts, black and blue, with irridescent bead passementerie, the Misses Roberts in royal blue. Mrs. J. Williamson, fawn floral silk with fan-shaped ornaments in black lace. The captain says that he left Dungeness, and met with fresh S.E. squalls and heavy rain 14 miles to-meet her, passed 26th March. The same weather continued to Lizard Island 31st March, and off Flat op Island on 1st April the wind shifted to S.W., and continued on to Percy Island. There the wind increased from S.E., and off Cape Capricorn on 6th April, at 4 a.m., the gale was increasing from E.S.E. off Broad Sound the storm was at with furious rain squalls. On the morning of the 8th the weather moderated. Lady Elliot Island was passed 9th April, and high winds on the 11th as the gale set in from S.S.E. Impossible to leave shore to, but had her under storm canvas until the 12th, when the rain covered it, but the wind was still hard. Passed Double Island Point with storm canvas, the same dirty weather to off Tweed, and was off Byron Bay at midnight of the 17th. ## THE CHITRAL EXPEDITION.

CHITRAL FORT HOLDING OUT.

THE GARRISON SORELY PRESSED.

ADVANCE OF THE RELIEF EXPEDITION.

LONDON, April 19.

It is reported that Umra Khan has fled to the Asmar region, south-west of Dir.

The only resistance now offered to the British advance is that of the Chitralis to the brigade under Lieutenant-Colonel Kelly, which is marching from Gilgit on Chitral.

April 20.

The third brigade of the British relief expedition to Chitral, under the command of Major-General Sir R. C. Low, has crossed the Jambatai Pass.

The British commander expects to be able to relieve Chitral by Saturday next.

April 21.

The British Agent, Dr. Robertson, and party were safe at Chitral up to the 17th instant.

The passage of the Jambatai Pass tried the British troops terribly. The town of Dir is three marches distant from the Pass.

The special correspondent of the Daily News states that the Chitral garrison was sorely pressed on the 16th instant. The enemy's lines were carried within 10 yards of the fort held by the garrison.

Major-General Sir R. C. Low ordered Colonel Gataere, on reaching Dir, to advance on Chitral with 500 men at all hazards. A brigade of Highlanders follows with supplies.

It is reported that the only pass leading to Chitral from Dir is at present impassable for troops through being entirely blocked by snow.

The brigade under Lieutenant-Colonel Kelly, now advancing on Chitral, is making slow progress, having encountered many obstacles.

REPORTED RELIEF OF CHITRAL.

LONDON, April 21.

A reliable report reached Major-General Low on Sunday last to the effect that Chitral has been relieved. It is not certain the relief was effected by Lieutenant-Colonel Kelly's brigade, or by the advance of Colonel Gataere.

Sher Afzul has absconded from Chitral.

ILLNESS OF LI HUNG CHANG.

THE TREATY OF PEACE.

OPPOSED BY RUSSIA AND GERMANY.

LONDON, April 20.

Li Hung Chang, the Chinese Viceroy, who recently returned from Japan after having concluded the peace negotiations, has been somewhat indisposed. He is now reported to be in a state of high fever, and is believed to be suffering from the effects of the attack made upon him by a Japanese fanatic, who fired at the Chinese envoy while returning from the conference of envoys to his residence in Simonoseki, where the peace negotiations were discussed.

April 21.

A semi-official note has been issued by Russia dealing with the treaty of peace concluded between China and Japan.

Russia is far from approving of the terms of the treaty, especially that clause of it with regard to the cession to Japan of the Liaotong Peninsula as far as the 40th parallel of latitude. The note declares that Russia intends to act with the other Powers in the interests of Europe.

Germany has also issued a semi-official note confirming the objections urged by Russia against the Chino-Japanese treaty, and adding that Russia, France, and Germany will immediately act conjointly to prevent the ratification of the treaty.

Later.

A telegram has reached London from Hiroshima, Japan, stating that the treaty of peace was ratified on Saturday.

He was chairman of the County Council of Oxfordshire in 1874.

THE BUTTER SEASON OF 1894-95.

LONDON, April 20.

Messrs. W. Weddel and Co. in their report of the results of the butter season now closing attribute the fall in price to the enormous increase in the quantity of butter imported from Denmark, France, Sweden, and Holland, and not to any over-supply from Australasia. The firm advocate that Australasian butter should be shipped all the year round, as, in order to retain the custom of the best buyers, the supply must be continuous and regular. It is the general opinion of experts that the decline in prices will continue, but the position is not without some hopeful features. The dominant factor in the position is the yield of European hay in the coming summer, but it is too early as yet to predict the prospects of this crop. With regard to cheese, Canada is erecting many new cheese factories; therefore the supply is likely to be largely increased, and the prospect of high prices is not very bright.

ACTION FOR ASSAULT.

PERTH, Sunday.

The case of Whitehead v. Hooley, in which the plaintiff, a well-known hairdresser, is suing E. T. Hooley, the chairman of the Western Australian Jockey Club, to recover damages for alleged assault and arrest, came on for hearing in the Supreme Court, before Mr. Justice Hensman and a special jury. The cause of action took place at last New Year's Day meeting of the club. The mare Fiorrie, belonging to Mr. Towton's stable, was a hot favourite for the Totalisator Handicap, but failed to take the premier place, and a number of persons, among whom was included Mr. Whitehead, alleged that she had been pulled near the weighing-in paddock. A scene of excitement followed, and the officers of the club took umbrage at Mr. Whitehead's language, and, with the aid of policemen, he was, he states, given in charge and put off the course.

THE FINANCES OF THE COLONY.

A LARGE SURPLUS.

AUCKLAND, Saturday.

Speaking at Marton, the Premier announced that the receipts for the financial year were £4,406,513 and the expenditure £4,266,722 gross. The surplus for the year was £430,000. Of this sum £250,000 had been paid to the public works fund, leaving a net surplus of £180,131. The customs revenue, he said, had been declining for some time past, and showed a deficiency of £30,000 under the estimate, while the railways showed a shortage of £17,000, chiefly owing to a falling-off in the grain export. Under other heads the revenue had more than compensated for these losses, and in the aggregate exceeded the estimate by £47,000 during the year. The public works expenditure under Part I. had been £317,000, the lowest since the public works policy was inaugurated. Out of the net surplus there would be available for public works in the current year a sum of £150,000.

THE WYALONG GOLDFIELD.

(From our correspondent.)

WEST WYALONG, Saturday.

Ormsby and party's Christmas Gift claim is forwarding 30 tons of superior stone to Sydney. They have about 100 tons at grass. The Erin's Isle party at Conway's have hit another reef east of the present workings with good stone, and they have 100 tons raised. Previous crushings have averaged 1½oz. to the ton at local batteries. The Monte Cario claim sent six tons of stone to Sydney, having about 80 tons at grass. The John Bull claim have the underlay shaft down nearly 50ft. on the reef, which is running from 6in. to 12in. wide, but they have 24in. of the reef in another shaft showing good gold. They are stoping, and have 80 tons of stone raised. Splendid gold is visible in the claim at Conway. The Shamrock and Thistle have cut one prospecting claim, and are raising first-class stone, having 200 tons at grass. At Foy and party's Dodger claim they are baling water at 145ft. The reef is 11in. thick, and showing well. Bolte and party are driving towards the old shaft and hoisting very good stone at 140ft. Johnson and party, adjoining Bolte's, are down 140ft. and sinking to cut Bolte's reef. They are expecting to do so in a short time. Gelling and party are sinking on the Louisa, and are 168ft. in hard country. A deal of dead work is being accomplished all over the field pending the advent of wet weather, which will give opportunities for crushing. Mr. Naffar, the divining rod expert, is expected to arrive on the field to-day, and several capitalists and speculators are investigating the various portions of the field with a view to investment, and considerable activity is manifest in the share market.

IMPORTANT LIBEL ACTION.

ADELAIDE, Saturday.

The libel action brought by Mr. Parsons, late Government Resident of the Northern Territory, and afterwards member of Parliament, against the South Australian Advertiser, involves issues of great importance to newspaper proprietors. Mr. Price, member of Parliament for Sturt, addressed his constituents on 7th February, having previously asked for the attendance of a reporter. He made certain statements, which were afterwards read over to him by the reporter and certified by him as correct. These were published in the Advertiser bona fide, and Mr. Parsons, thinking himself aggrieved by the references to him, is suing Mr. J. L. Bonython, the proprietor of the Advertiser, for damages. The case is set down for hearing on the 1st May. The point at issue is the right of a newspaper to publish the public utterances of public men.

RETRENCHMENT IN THE MILITARY SERVICE.

ADELAIDE, Sunday.

The non-commissioned officers and men of three regiments of Militia, Lancers, bands and ambulance corps mustered on the parade ground on Saturday. An explanation of the position was given by the Colonel-commandant. The position now is that the men will continue to attend such drills as may be ordered. The first of a series of races between the Geelong Grammar School and St. Peter's College, South Australia, was rowed on the Port River on Saturday morning. The weather was rough and the water choppy. Geelong Grammar School won the toss, and had the advantage of the inside station. After a grand race from start to finish, there never being daylight between the boats, the Victorian boys won by a length.

A SYDNEY BOUND VESSEL ASHORE.

TWO ACCIDENTS AT NEWCASTLE.

It was scarcely thought from the first message received on Friday that the barque Devonport, which drove ashore at Circular Head, Tasmania, in an easterly gale, would be so badly injured as later reports show her to be. The initial telegram gave the barque as lying near the old jetty, and in "no immediate danger." What has happened is, that since she grounded the sea rolling in has lifted the vessel, and bumped her on the beach with sufficient violence to start some of her planking below the waterline, with the result that she now lies ashore full of water. Our correspondent last night wired from Stanley, Circular Head, via Launceston:—"Devonport now in a most dangerous position. She had loaded 4000 bags of potatoes for Sydney." She is built of wood, one of the s.s.s. Prince Edward Island vessels, built in 1878, commanded by her owner, Captain George R. Greenwood, and registered in 1885 at Auckland.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our correspondent.)

HOBART, Sunday.

At 9.50 p.m. yesterday our correspondent wired A message from Stanley at 9.50 a.m. says that the barque Devonport is lying on the west side of the jetty, having been righted, and pumps are keeping the water under. She has only about 100 tons of ballast and cargo to discharge, and it is expected that the vessel will be moored to the jetty by next tide. She is partly insured in the National of New Zealand. Her cargo consists of potatoes.

VESSELS AGROUND AT NEWCASTLE.

Some thorough dredging is wanted apparently in parts of Newcastle harbour. For some time past masters of steamers have remarked upon the shallowing up of the harbour, and the rapidity with which it is going on. The following telegrams are from our correspondent:—

NEWCASTLE, Sunday.

At an early hour this morning, as the steamer Beeswing was proceeding to sea for Melbourne, with 1100 tons coal, she took the ground in the harbour, off Callen's slip, Stockton, but shortly afterwards floated off again without injury, and then proceeded on her voyage.

The steamer Sydney, whilst coming down the river from Morpeth last night, went aground on the flats, and remained there hard and fast. This morning the tug Goolwa went to her assistance, but failed to tow her off. Lighters have been sent up the river during the day, and part of the cargo has been taken out. It is expected that she will float at high water. She got off at 5.55 p.m. on Sunday, and proceeded.

DECISION AGAINST A GENERAL STRIKE.

(From our correspondent.)

NEWCASTLE, Saturday.

The resolution passed at the Miners' Delegate Board yesterday has given general satisfaction to the public, as it overrides the motion passed at the aggregate meeting at Lambton on Monday last for a general strike. It is contended by some of the lodges, notably Wallsend, Hetton, Wickham and Bullock Island, which have withdrawn their notices to cease work, that the aggregate meeting was principally composed of unemployed miners, and was therefore not a representative gathering. These lodges having withdrawn and the Borehole miners making no sign, while the unemployed miners at the Glebe and Minmi were applying for work at other collieries, the delegate board considered that as four of the largest collieries in the district declined to come out, it would be injudicious to carry out a general strike. There was, it appears, fully two hours' discussion before the motion, "That all strikes should be declared off, and that the men be allowed to negotiate for the best terms possible with the proprietors," was carried. The motion was adopted last night by the Wallsend, New Lambton, and Glebe Lodges.

Matters, however, are not in a satisfactory state at Seaham. Yesterday a deputation from the lodge waited upon the manager, Mr. Turnbull, to ask him to allow them to withdraw their notice, but he refused to do so, or to listen to them. He intends to work the mine with free labour, and left for Sydney last night to consult his directors on the subject.

The withdrawal of the strike notice has been accepted by the Hetton Coal Company without any further reduction in rates.

Sunday.

The first noticeable result of the adoption of the resolution passed on Friday at the Miners' Delegate Board to the effect that all strikes be declared off, and that each lodge make the best terms with the proprietors, was pleasantly visible yesterday. At Minmi, about half-past 4 o'clock, some 300 union miners who had been on strike rushed en masse to the colliery manager's office to give in their names for work. The manager took a list of all the names, and told them that he would at a later period of the evening post outside the office a list of the names of those men whom he would be able to set to work on Monday morning. Accordingly a few hours afterwards a list of about 200 names was posted up, including shiftmen, &c., who will go to work at the Back Creek Colliery on Monday. The manager also informed the remainder of the miners that next week he would start them at work again at Duckenfield Colliery. This will put an end to the serious and prolonged labour difficulty at Minmi, and will be tantamount to the deathblow to any attempt at a general strike. Messrs. J. and A. Brown have plenty of trade, and it is generally believed that the trouble is now at an end.

CIRCUIT COURTS.

BATHURST, Saturday.

At the Circuit Court to-day, Martha Aspole was charged with shooting with intent to murder, at Parkes, and was convicted of an intent to do grievous bodily harm, the jury strongly recommending the prisoner to mercy on account of the provocation she received. Mr. Moriarty appeared for the defence. Andrew Fogarty and George Eagles were charged with stealing from a dwelling, and were acquitted. Mr. A. G. Thompson appeared for the defence. Walter Smith and Henry Smith were indicted on a charge of robbing a miner at Trunkey of £3 10s, and was acquitted. This concluded the criminal business. The civil cases will commence on Monday.

GOULBURN, Saturday.

The civil business in the Circuit Court was concluded to-day, when his Honor heard an appeal for judicial separation in the case of Peach v. Peach, the wife being the petitioner. His Honor reserved his decision, and advised a settlement if possible. Yesterday a most novel case was heard. A. G. Furner sued Charles Rogers for alleged libel, and claimed £500 damages. In 1892 Rogers purchased the stock in the assigned estate of A. G. Furner, trading as Furner Brothers. For two years he kept the fact before the public by large advertising waggons, posters, and advertisements. He also used Furner's billheads, with the name crossed out, and an addition printed thereon that he (Rogers) had purchased the stock in the estate. It was contended that Rogers had no more right to continually parade the fact of Furner's assignment than a newspaper would have to refer to it two years after the fact. In defence it was urged that so long as the stock remained unsold Rogers had a right to advertise it. The jury found for the defendant.

BATHURST POOR RELIEF SOCIETY.

BATHURST, Saturday.

The eighteenth annual meeting of the Bathurst Poor Relief Society was held at the Town Hall, Mrs. J. H. Stewart, the president, being in the chair. During the past year the supplies issued included 100 tons of wood and coal, 4800lb. of meat, 4000 loaves of bread, 2977 quarts of soup, besides blankets, flannel, and clothing. The balance-sheet, which was read by Mrs. Charles White, indicated that the total receipts amounted to £358 8s, and the expenses amounted to 3s less. The collections had been £43 less than the amount collected during the previous year. The society, however, had £100 at first deposit. After the adoption of the reports the following officers were appointed:—President, Mrs. J. H. Stewart; vice-presidents, Mesdames Meagher, Edgley, Jos. Smith, and Crago; secretary, Mrs. Bannister; treasurer, Mrs. C. White.

RAILWAY FROM BYROCK TO BREWARRINA.

NEWCASTLE, Saturday.

In reference to the proposal to construct a light line of railway from Byrock to Brewarrina, the Newcastle Chamber of Commerce is of opinion that the most advantageous and direct route for the construction of a railway to tap that particular district would be by an extension from Narrabri to Walgett. This would enable settlers in that part of the country to send their produce to the nearest seaport town, Newcastle, and save the increased haulage if their goods were despatched by the former route. It was resolved to communicate with the Minister for Works and point out the many advantages of the Walgett route.

The inspection has lasted above a week.

APPEALS AGAINST COAL ASSESSMENTS.

NEWCASTLE, Saturday.

At the Newcastle Municipal Appeal Court yesterday the proprietors of the Hetton Colliery, in the borough of Carrington, appealed against an assessment of 6d per ton on coal raised within the municipality, and 4d per ton as way-leave for coal got outside and drawn within the municipality. It was agreed by other colliery proprietors in the vicinity (Wickham and Bullock Island) to abide by the result of this appeal. The manager of the Hetton Colliery said that his company were willing to pay 6d for coal raised within the municipality and 2d per ton for coal raised outside those limits. This had been paid in previous years. After a lengthy hearing, the Bench confirmed the assessment made in each case.

NEWCASTLE, Sunday.

A fatal accident occurred last night in the harbour. Edwin Jackson, a seaman of the ship Scottish Knight, had been ashore, and returned to the vessel at half-past 11. He went to the ship's side shortly afterwards, and the watchman on deck heard a splash, ran to the side of the vessel and saw deceased in the water. He threw him a line, but the latter failed to catch it, and sank before further assistance could be rendered. The water police are dragging for the body.

PENRITH, Sunday.

The man Valentine Links, who was seriously injured in a cart accident near Mount Victoria on Tuesday last, died at the hospital on Friday evening. His injuries were serious, and but little hopes were given of his recovery. A magisterial inquiry was held on Saturday before the District Coroner, Mr. Lethbridge, and a verdict of accidental death was found.

The weather is still dry, and the maize and other crops are suffering in consequence.

Considerable interest is taken in the flower show which is to be opened here on Thursday next by Lady Darley.

WENTWORTH, Saturday.

Early on Thursday morning a large haystack, valued at £300, on Tapio station, was burnt. Sergeant Bear was communicated with, and proceeded to the scene. He discovered foot-tracks leading to and from the bend of the river. Following them, he came to a camp occupied by five men, and after interrogating them and measuring the boots worn he arrested two of them. They were taken before the police magistrate and remanded.

A thunderstorm with rain occurred yesterday. Soaking rain, which was much needed, fell at intervals, and 35 points were registered. The rivers are very low, and pasturage is scarce. Communication by water with Mildura and the Upper Murray is practically suspended.

WEST WYALONG, Saturday.

A public meeting under the auspices of the Labour Electoral League was addressed by Mr. Holman for the purpose of selecting a candidate to run in the interests of labour at the next election. The following were nominated:—Ernest J. Polkinghorne and Hector J. Greville, Mark Mongan and J. Medway Day. The ballot takes place on Saturday next.

WINDSOR, Saturday.

The Richmond Horticultural Society's Chrysanthemum Show was opened yesterday by Mr. P. H. Ridge. There was a splendid display of flowers, and it was declared by the judges from Sydney to be equal to those shown at the metropolitan show. The principal prizetakers were J. T. Pitt, J. T. Town, Dr. Cameron, and Mrs. H. Shuttherpe.

A welcome was tendered to the Rev. W. Hales Rogers, Wesleyan minister, last night by the parishioners.

Mr. Hickson and Mr. De Burgh, from the Works Department, yesterday inspected the bridge with a view of deciding if it could be raised an additional 8ft., and whether it would be acceptable to the residents.

GOLDFIELDS OF WESTERN AUSTRALIA.

[By Telegraph.]
(From our correspondent.)

COOLGARDIE, Friday.

A start has been made to open out at the 380ft. level in Bayley's Reward main shaft. A chamber is being cut preparatory to the cross-cutting for the lode. In doing this a small vein of quartz, heavily charged with pyrites, was met with. This caused a rumour to be spread that the reef was struck, but this cannot be done for a week or two. Nice gold is being obtained from the bottom level in Everett's shaft. Twenty head battery has been kept running, producing about 200oz. weekly. Bayley's No. 1 South crushed 110 tons of stone for 221oz. of gold during the last fortnight, the output to date being 1029oz. of gold from 674 tons of stone.

Very cold weather has set in, and it is believed this will cause sickness.

Saturday.

The Ivanhoe battery, which has been successfully started, is running smoothly, the oil engine being a pronounced success. Ten head of stamps are working. Rich stone is being raised, while a fresh rich shoot has been struck on the lowest level. It is estimated that the oil engine will save 300 to 400 gallons of water daily, no feed water being required. The Crœsus mine has re-started the battery, and has now five-head working steadily on good-grade ore. Bayley's Reward management is substituting an 18-horse power oil engine for the present steam plant for running the battery, owing to the saving in water. The Mount Burgess crushing for the fortnight was 230oz. from 250 tons of stone. The five-head stamp battery is being run on stone from other mines as a bulk test of the surrounding claims.

News from Lake Darlot is to the effect that the alluvial rush continues satisfactory. A large number of diggers are starting weekly.

The warden's recommendation in regard to the Londonderry mine jumping case was given to-day in favour of the original prospectors, who pegged 19 acres but applied for only 12. They claimed that under the new regulation they were entitled to all the ground pegged up to 25 acres. The jumper claimed that only the land applied for could be granted. The warden held that under the regulation the prospectors were entitled to all ground within the pegs, and recommended the Minister to grant the lease for the whole 19 acres. The property is a very rich one, situated a few miles north from the 25-Mile Rock. A supply of water equal to 4000 gallons daily has been struck at a vertical depth of 180ft. At the Premier mine, at the 25-Mile, the shaft was started 150ft. from the outcrop, but it is believed that the reef is near. Water was met with in the slate country.

PERTH, Friday.

A telegram from Southern Cross states that Ambrose Leffler has returned from Mount Jackson, and reports a 65 miles dry stage between Mount Jackson and Southern Cross. A large area of ground has been taken up on the Victorian line of reef. The future of the field is most promising. Water is now selling at 10s per 100 gallons in Southern Cross. Some condensers have offered it at 8s 4d. At Fraser's 430 tons of stone were crushed for a yield of 220oz. 16dwt. of gold. A nugget weighing 18½oz. has been found on the main land at Murchison.

Sunday.

Telegraphic news from Marble Bar states that M'Phee's reward claim at Talga Talga and Glencoe is showing magnificent gold. 200oz. have been dollied from the reef during the last fortnight. At the new find, six miles north of Talga, the reef is large, and showing fine gold throughout. W. Butcher and Charles M'Phee are the prospectors. Another important discovery was made 3½ miles from Coongan River. The reef is 2ft. thick, and the West Talga reef has been traced a quarter of a mile along the surface. The stone shows rich gold in addition to galena and sulphur. Rentnall and Burnett are the finders. Mons. Prophecy mine at Bamboo Creek has crushed 57 tons of stone for a yield of 97oz. of gold. The Charlie mine has crushed 12 tons of stone for a yield of 74oz., and the Federation mine 10 tons for 14oz. Good coarse gold has been struck in the flat on Roughton and Cashcow Mullins, and 160oz. of specimens containing over 100oz. of gold were found by Bikiroff and Mitchie at Talga. Rich reefs have been opened up at Pilbara, close to the famous Broken reef from which £10,000 worth of gold was extracted six years ago. Some magnificent specimens have been exhibited by Fred. Laffen, the finder. An important reefing discovery has been made at Shaw River. The stone is of a black nature and thoroughly impregnated with coarse and fine gold. The mine at Marble Bar has crushed 48 tons for 107oz. of gold. At the Marble Bar Queen mine 9 tons of stone have been crushed for 11oz. of gold.

THE WEATHER.

RAIN OUT IN THE WEST.

Light winds and smooth seas prevailed along the coast yesterday up to evening, when Gabo Island and Green Cape reported a fresh sou'-wester with rain. The wind at Sydney shifted from N.E. into the south last night, blowing light and pleasantly cool after Saturday's warm weather. The thermometer rose to 79° in the shade on Saturday, with a breeze from N.E., blowing at 14 to 15 miles per hour. Telegrams from the country show that about half an inch of rain has fallen on parts of the Darling and the Western slopes. The morning reports give the following returns:—Euston, 37 points; Deniliquin, 44; Bourke, 27; Balranald, 35; Albury, 40. The highest shade temperatures recorded in the colonies were at Balranald, 91°; Menindie, 92°; Deniliquin, 90°; and, excepting at Kiandra, where 33° was reached, all the low readings were between 40° and 50°.

SYDNEY UNIVERSITY.

ANNUAL COMMEMORATION.

BRILLIANT GATHERING.

THE CHANCELLOR'S ADDRESS.

The forty-fourth annual commemoration of the Sydney University, which was held on Saturday, was one that was unique in the history of the institution. At the previous commemoration his Excellency Sir Robert Duff was an honoured guest and made an eloquent speech, and Sir William Manning, as Chancellor, submitted his annual address. The life-size portrait of the late Chancellor, which is hung on the wall over the dais, was draped in black, and, added to the presence of the Lieutenant-Governor, Sir Frederick Darley, and of the new Chancellor, Sir William Windeyer, served to remind the vast audience that during the year death had removed two of the most prominent figures in the public life of the colony. Thus there was imparted to the proceedings an unwonted impressiveness which was heightened by the undergraduates refraining from their customary programme of choruses and their more noisy demonstrations, out of respect to the memory of the honoured dead. The Great Hall of the University was filled at about 10.30 o'clock, with the exception of the space set apart for the undergraduates, who could be heard outside the door by which they were to be admitted. At that hour the organist, Mr. H. C. Kent, M.A., performed the following programme:—March, "Tannhäuser," Wagner; andante, Lefébure-Wely; grand offertoire in C, Chinner; romance, Gounod; "Cornelius March," Mendelssohn. As the hour for the commemoration drew near—11 o'clock—loud knockings indicated that there was an eager crowd outside seeking admission, and when the door was opened the undergraduates poured in like a flood. On this occasion they carried only two banners, the old engineering design, the second one representing the University Union, and bearing the motto "Deo Patriæ Tibi." They had hardly reached their seats, when their cheers, added to the swelling notes of the grand organ, as it pealed out the strains of the National Anthem, announced that his Excellency the Lieutenant-Governor had entered the building, and presently he reached the dais, preceded by the mace bearer, and escorted by the Chancellor, Sir William Windeyer, the other members of the senate and professors of the University. The mace was placed on the table at the front of the platform. His Excellency took a seat behind it, having on his right hand Sir William Windeyer, chancellor; on his left the Hon. Dr. H. N. MacLaurin, M.L.C., vice-chancellor, and being supported by his Honor Judge Backhouse, Professor Butler, and Mr. R. Teece. The following ladies and gentlemen occupied seats on the platform:—Lady Darley, Lady and the Misses Windeyer, Mr. H. E. Barff, M.A., Registrar of the University; Professors Gurney, Pitt-Cobbett, Anderson Stuart, Liversidge, Wilson, Hassell, Warren, and MacCallum; the Mayor (Alderman S. E. Lees, M.L.A.), the Hons. Dr. Creed, Dr. Garran, and E. Greville, M.L.C., Sir Julian Salomons, Q.C., Mr. J. R. Fairfax, Miss M'Donald, of the Women's College; the Rev. Canon Sharp, of St. Paul's College; Principal Kinross, of St. Andrew's College; Monsignor O'Brien, of St. John's College; Rev. J. E. Carruthers, president of the Wesleyan Conference; Rev. William Allen, chairman of the Congregational Union; Mons. G. Biard d'Aunet, Consul-general for France; Herr C. L. Sahl, Consul-General for Germany; Dr. P. Sydney Jones; Mr. H. C. Russell, when the cynical and the shallow shall ask, as they ever will, what has posterity done for us, they shall be answered by lives of usefulness to our fellow-men led by us in the determination to hand down to our children unimpaired and extended the advantages which we enjoy and which those who lived before delivered to us. Let us not forget, as Robert Lowe once epigrammatically said to me as a boy, when he was deprecating the postponement of opening of the University till a building was erected, "That universities are not made of buildings, but of brains," that our splendid endowment from the State and the magnificently patriotic benefactions of our Challis, our Fisher, and our Thomas Walker, our Nicholson, Dalton, and Macleay, will be all unprofitably bestowed unless the intellectual influence of the University is so shown—reflected through its graduates in the social and public life of our country—as to make all men see its usefulness. (Hear, hear, and cheers.) Our responsibilities are coequal with our opportunity. It is the opportunity of a builder laying the foundation of a national institution. It is for us and each of us to say whether, as far as lies in our power, its intellectual foundations shall be laid broad and deep in the affections of our country, built up generation after generation with expanding inclusiveness of all forms of intellectual life, and adorned by the gentlemen useful to their country, or whether it shall stand as an empty temple in which faith is dead, and men shall ask, Why cumbereth it the ground? I cannot too often remind you that upon you, my young brothers, who have had the priceless advantage of a liberal education, will in a large measure rest the responsibility of maintaining the respect of the masses for higher education. If the result of your university training is to show that, with the educated Athenian of old, the man who is under the public affairs is not only a busybody, but also takes no interest in public affairs is not only a busybody, but also free from business cares, but a useless man; if it proves that, whilst determined to regard the settled constitution of your country as a sacred thing to be held inviolate against the assaults of the rash in the hour of insult and excitement, you are so selfish as to have no selfish class interests, but are sympathetic with those who are legitimately struggling to improve the conditions of their existence, you will do noble service to the cause of higher education and to your country. But if, regardless of your duty, you wrap your talent in a napkin, and, in self-satisfied contempt for the misguided efforts of your imperfectly educated fellow-citizens, you make no effort to assist in the working of our institutions, you will do a grievous wrong by bringing to the higher education of that dignity in the eyes of the masses which should give it power and influence in the councils of the country. I trust, ladies and gentlemen, that you will pardon me for thus occupying your time. Our festival is well-nigh over, but as in all human joy sorrow is ever with us, like the Egyptian of old, amidst our feast we must bring in the flower-laden biers of our dead, of our late Visitor, Sir Robert Duff, and of our late Chancellor. Of one we can only have a kindly remembrance as the English gentleman who, true to the traditions of his order, gave up the quiet of his country home and the congenial surroundings of English Parliamentary life to serve his country and his Queen on the frontier of the Empire, to die far from home and friends—save the noble deaths-heart of a brother—in a land which has the profoundest sympathy of the people whom her husband came hither to serve. The other, our late Chancellor, Sir William Manning, my honoured predecessor, was one whose memory as a distinguished benefactor we shall ever cherish. How he laboured for us during the 17 years that he held the office of Chancellor is known to you all, whilst his habitual courtesy to all with whom he was officially brought into contact will ever make sweet the remembrance of his business relations with his co-workers of all ranks. He was a man who, whatever the duty he undertook, whether it was small or great, was ever prepared to discharge it with all his might; neither time, labour, nor, indeed, health itself, was spared by him in the service of the university, and it may be safely said that there is no school which does not owe much of its present efficiency to his personal exertions. At the time when he became the senior there were only four professors; when he left us there were 14, and 28 lecturers. This expansion of the university, which has brought it so much more closely in touch with the public, and which has enabled it to extend its sphere of usefulness so as to bring within its influence nearly every branch of education, demanded by the intellectual wants of the country, is largely owing both to his exertions in the senate and his representations to the Government as to the necessity for making wider provision for higher education. If he had done nothing else but so largely to help by his unremitting exertions the foundation of the Medical School he should be remembered with gratitude by the colony. Before the establishment of that school, now numbering 120 students, all our young men desiring a medical education had to go elsewhere to obtain it, at an expense of from £500 to £600 for those of ample fortune, whereas it is now within the reach of many to whom this career of usefulness would have been altogether closed. The saving not only to them but to the country is enormous. One hundred and twenty students is the saving for their medical education in Britain would annually draw from the country and cause to be expended elsewhere the sum of £24,000 now spent amongst us. Successful labour such as his brings the worker its own reward in the sense of duty done. Let us all hope that his great example of duty nobly done may rule us from his urn. He is the last of the distinguished workers who having given invaluable services to the university has rested from his labour, to whom our deepest gratitude is due. Too early in this year was the fairest flower, Frederick Woolley, who after life's fitful fever sleeps well in his ocean tomb. Standing here as I now do with a debt of gratitude that I can never repay, owing to him and to his teaching that reverence for truth to be paid at any sacrifice which was the ruling principle of his life, I cannot refrain from recording, typically, I trust on behalf of all our students both of the past and of the future, our lifelong gratitude to the teacher who first rouses in our souls the love of truth and hands down to our keeping the sacred flame of that knowledge, that gratitude which must animate all who feel that no

Whether the expansion which has made the University so much more useful to the community is to be maintained in all its breadth, or whether we shall be compelled, by still further raising the cost of education to the individual student to contract its sphere of usefulness, depends largely upon the Legislature and its determination whether higher education is to be brought within the reach of all classes in the community. The early founders of our educational system conceived a great scheme, so arranged that the bright intellect appearing even in the humblest and poorest ranks of society might be able to ascend from our primary schools to the University, and there obtain the culture that would better fit him for the higher work of citizenship. We are proud to think that this conception has been already realised to a considerable extent. (Applause.) The great mass of our students come not from the ranks of the well-to-do, but from the ranks of those whose very poverty induces them to send their sons and daughters to the University. No one expects every man to become a philosophic thinker, or a great statesman with a mind enriched by the accumulated knowledge of the ancient and modern world; but every man, however humble his sphere of life as a worker, has a right to look to the hand of the State, as far as it can give it, for equality of opportunity for success. That equality of opportunity which shall enable the son of the poorest to equip himself for the race of life, to fit himself for professional success, and enable him to attain those positions in the State for which higher education is necessary, can only be given by so endowing our public educational institutions from the lowest to the highest as to bring them within reach of all. It has ever been a matter of argument amongst the friends of education in all countries and in all times whether it should be entirely free at the expense of the State, or whether it is not better that some small payment should be made; but better it should be free altogether than that any who would benefit by it should be excluded from its advantages. (Hear, hear.) Curiously enough, an argument on the very question is to be found in one of Pliny's letters. Experience, however, has proved that efficient education of any kind cannot be brought within the reach of the mass of the people unless at some extent the cost is borne by them. In the rich by inheritance, by professional skill, or by commercial success might be able to send their sons and daughters to England or to Victoria were there no university here; but without it nearly all the avenues to advancement by professional success would be closed except to those favoured by fortune. No one who has a voice in the councils of the country who believes in intellect as the power which should rule the world, can be satisfied to leave all the prizes of national and social life as a monopoly for the sons and daughters of those whose wealth will enable them to give their children the education better fitting them to win them. Real equality in the start for the race of life can only be secured to the working-classes by equality in opportunity of education. It is now as ever true, that knowledge is power, and power, whether it be displayed in the skill that can save human life, in conducting matters of dispute with ability, in deciding intricate questions of law, in constructing great engineering works, in drawing up an intelligible Act of Parliament, or in discussing economic questions and the problems of government, will ultimately rest with those who are best qualified by education to take the lead in all these. Let us trust that by a wise and patriotic liberality, those golden spirits, as Plato termed them, that are born into all ranks of life, may have the opportunity of developing their heaven-sent gifts; and that no son of man, however humbly born, shall be prevented by poverty from obtaining that culture which shall make his bright intellect valuable to his country and her cause. (Prolonged applause.)

Three cheers were given for the Queen, and three cheers for his Excellency the Lieutenant-Governor; the National Anthem was played, and the commemoration was over.

ANNUAL REUNION.

On Saturday evening the annual reunion of graduates and under-graduates to bid farewell to graduates of 1895, and to welcome freshmen, was held in the Great Hall of the University. The chair was occupied by the president, Mr. J. B. Peden, B.A., having on his right the Chancellor of the University, Sir William Windeyer, and being supported by Professors Wood, Wilson, MacCallum, David, and Butler, also Dr. Smith, Messrs. E. R. Holme, B.A., H. C. L. Anderson, M.A., F. Lyodd, LL.B., G. H. Knibbs, A. J. Kelynack, B.A., J. Brearley, B.Sc., and others. There were nearly one hundred guests, and the proceedings were of a very convivial character. The programme was so judiciously arranged that the toasts of the evening were interspersed with songs, a recitation, and an organ solo, the soloists being Dr. Smith, Messrs. Hicks, J. J. Kelynack, Bracken, and A. Mitchell, while Mr. Harry Leston gave a recitation, and Mr. Castling rendered an organ solo. Herr Hugo Alpen was accompanist. The proceedings opened with the chorus, "Once More We Meet," to the tune of "Old Folks at Home."

"The Queen" was proposed by the President, and drunk with enthusiasm.

Mr. E. B. Holme, B.A., proposed "The University." He said that the institution was one of which not only they but the colony could be justly proud, and was not only a credit and an honour to New South Wales, but also to Australia. He pointed out the desirability of having some organisation among the graduates to band them together, as it would tend to the promotion of mutual interests, and they would then be a great power throughout the country.

The Chancellor, on rising to respond, was greeted with such an ovation that for some minutes he could not be heard. He expressed the very great pleasure it afforded him to be among them. Their University had not yet been able to create any organisation of a lasting character, such as was to be found in the older similar institutions; and he hailed with delight the idea that had been suggested by one of the speakers that they should as soon as practicable take steps to form some union of a permanent character that would from time to time enable them to meet together in some place where every University man would be sure to receive some of his University brethren. (Cheers.) Comparing the present with the past, he said that he well remembered the first meeting of this University, when taking their first degrees; and his memory went back to the time when he made a speech at the first gathering similar to that now. They then thought of the time when, instead of the few students, they would be numbered by hundreds; and now they looked forward to the period when this University should number its students not by hundreds, but by thousands. Lord Holmes had a couple of years had passed since he took his degree. He was the very oldest of the University graduates—(cheers)—and he felt proud because his name stood on the top of the roll, and would stand there for all time. (Prolonged applause.) He well remembered the occasion when the first degrees were given. It was not in such a hall as the one in which they were then assembled, and which he had referred to in his address that morning as reared by the liberality of the Legislature and adorned by the munificence of private citizens, but it was in the great hall of the Sydney Grammar School. He there saw the legend, "I Will Achieve," and he trusted that motto would fire them, and that they would do all they possibly could for the credit and fame of their University, for upon each and every one of them rested the responsibility of doing something. He acknowledged the great honour they had done him in asking him to respond to the toast. (Prolonged applause.)

The Parsonry, in a humorous speech bristling with humour, proposed the toast of "The Teaching Staff," and it was enthusiastically honoured.

Professor MacCallum, who was received with cheers, responded. In the course of his reply he said that it gave him great gratification to the members of the teaching staff to have such an expression of the goodwill of the students as had just been given; but their goodwill had also been manifested in all their dealings. It was stimulating to teachers. The feeling of comradeship between teacher and pupil was beneficial to both alike, assisting the one in imparting good instruction, and the other in receiving it.

Mr. MacAdam proposed the toast of "The Graduates." Messrs. D. B. Nelson, B.A., D. Levy, LL.B., and M. O'G. Hughes, M.B., Ch.M., responded.

Mr. H. E. Whitfield proposed the toast of "Freshmen," Mr. D. P. Evan Jones responding.

The toast of "The Ladies" was proposed by Dr. Perkins, and responded to by Dr. Jackson. The proceedings terminated shortly after 10 o'clock.

ST. MARY'S R.C. SCHOOL, CONCORD.

ADDRESS BY CARDINAL MORAN.

The blessing and opening, by Cardinal Moran, of St. Mary's new Roman Catholic school, Concord, took place yesterday afternoon. The Cardinal, who was accompanied by Dr. Doyle (Bishop of Bathurst), arrived at Concord shortly after 4 p.m., and was received by the Very Rev. Dr. Murphy, parish priest. After a short preliminary service, the ceremony of blessing the new school was performed. Headed by the Cardinal, Bishop Doyle and Dr. Murphy, in procession, carrying crosses, the Sacred Heart Society, the Holy Catholic Guild, the Hibernian Society, and the St. Vincent de Paul Society, was formed, and a circuit made of the building. Further offices of consecration were afterwards performed inside the school. Subsequently a public meeting was held, Cardinal Moran presiding, and seated on the platform were—Bishop Doyle, Very Rev. Dr. Murphy, Rev. Fathers Long, P.P., (Lewisham), Kirby, and Kehan, Hon. J. T. Tooher, M.L.C., Dr. Ochilo Mahr, Messrs. J. Sheerin, E. J. Farrell, J. C. Casey, E. J. Hollingdale, Taylor, and J. Hennessey.

Mr. Hollingdale submitted a statement of revenue and expenditure, which showed that while the building had cost £750 14s, the subscriptions had amounted to £400 8s, leaving a deficiency of £353 6s.

Cardinal Moran then delivered an address. He said that after the very concise financial statement which had been made, he felt sure they would agree with him that the building which had been erected was a very cheap structure for the sum mentioned. It appeared to be admirably suited to the purposes for which it was intended. He did not know of any primary school of a similar description that was superior to this. It was sometimes said that Catholics, in erecting these institutions, were getting out of touch with the world around them and were introducing something new. But the reverse was the really true order of things. In maintaining religious and denominational schools, Catholics were only proving themselves true to the traditions of the past. It should be borne in mind that 250 years ago the schools of the country were all denominational. They were judged to be necessary by the statesmen who formed the colonies. But some 25 years ago a new system was inaugurated. The statesmen of those days entered upon a course which led for its avowed purpose the throwing overboard of the Catholic religious schools. They wished to follow the suit of statesmen in irreligious countries—to pull down the crucifix and set up a certain form of reason in its place. But Catholics were true to the traditions of the past, and combined secular religion with their educational system. They also provided what was best for the present and future happiness of the children who attended the schools. In making religion their base they had taken that ground which was in accord with all morality. If the principles of morality were banished from the hearts of the children the only source of real happiness through their whole lives was removed. There was one accusation some politicians made against the Catholic Church, on which he would be permitted to say a few words. They said that the Catholic Church should bend with the times—that it insisted too much on old principles. They argued that the world was making great progress, and that the Church should adopt a little progress, and that the Church should adopt a little progress, and that the Church should adopt principles. They argued that the world was making great progress, and that the Church should adopt a little progress, and that the Church should adopt a little principles. In reply, he would say that the reason why the principles of the Church did not change was that they were not of human origin but of divine. Anything that came from God could not be changed—it was divine, and was as previous in the days of Noah as in the days of Wesley. Statesmen's views proceeded not from the principles of eternal truth, but from expediency, and thus they changed with every wind of human favor. But the teachings of the Lord were the inheritance of those within the fold of the Church, and they would not surrender them. Nothing so certain was to be compared with the heavenly sunshine. Some politicians would doubtless say that the sun was getting very old-fashioned, so that it might as well be blotted out for a while, in order to see how the world could get along without it. But the sun shone by the law of God, and could not be blotted out. So also was it with the Church. Those outside the Catholic fold and politicians—from time to time—presented false phases of what they called religion to Catholics themselves the divine truth was the teaching of the Lord. They could change nothing of it, and till the end of time it would continue to spread its divine rays. Individual churches and denominations outside the Catholic pale might be lopped off like rotten branches from the tree of life; but it was the destiny of the Church to last to the end of time, and for ever to remain indivisible. He might be allowed to use an illustration. Some of those distinguished men who had become converts in our time had compared the churches to ships that sailed on the Sea of Galilee in days of old. The Saviour was the commander, He was the rowers, and the successor of St. Peter stood at the helm. Those who left the Church were comparable to those who left the ship for a boat of their own, and sometimes for a tub, and were tossed about by the waves of dissension. But the ship of Christ would go on till the end of time—till it entered the harbour of eternal life. Statesmen of the present day seemed to fail to recognise the mission of the Church. He did not refer to the statesmen of New South Wales, as he might be understood, the spirit of piety exhibited by some of them—(laughter)—but to those of many countries in the old world. It was a pity that some of these statesmen were not allowed to direct the course of providence for a little while. They would soon make a nice mess of it, and might have to call the politicians of New South Wales to help them. Such a resort, however, might only make matters worse. (Laughter.) Pontius Pilate had expressed contempt for truth, and had taken expediency as his guide. So it was with the politicians of the present hour. They set before the people and the schools what they were pleased to consider religion should be. But true Christians would take no notice of what politicians were getting up in connection with the world around them and were introducing something new. But the reverse was the really true order of things. In maintaining religious and denominational schools, Catholics were only proving themselves true to the traditions of the past. It should be borne in mind that 250 years ago the schools of the country were all denominational. They were judged to be necessary by the statesmen who formed the colonies. ## MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL.

SATURDAY EVENING.

The business of the day on the Sydney Stock Exchange was confined to a sale of Richardson and Wrench at 6s 6d, the last-quoted price. During the week the amount of business passing was small. The market retains its firmness. All Government stocks hold their position. Banks generally are firm; New South Wales, Commercial of Sydney, and Union of Australia being ½ higher on the week. Deposits of reconstructed banks have maintained their place and are in request. Newcastle and Hunter River Steam sold at a reduction of 5d, but other steam shares have been steady at last week's quotations. In insurance, City Mutual and Mercantile Mutual have weakened slightly. Australian Gaslight are up ½ to ¾, and Goulburn Gaslight have sold at an advance of 6d. Brewery shares have been steady, not much business passing. Mont de Piété have advanced 9d, and Perpetual Trustees are 3d higher since Saturday last. Aarons' Exchange Hotel are slightly stronger. In other shares there has been no material alteration. The closing quotations were :—

* Par is paid. † Due 1st November, 1895. ‡ And interest.

As far as they are complete the bank averages for the first quarter of the year show the features usual at this time of the year, accentuated, perhaps, by the greater addition to coin and bullion than usual. In the average return for March of 12 banks under the Bank Note Act the total of coin was £7,793,717, making the largest amount ever held, while the note circulation was limited to £1,264,001. Bank rates are quoted as follow :—Deposits : 12 months, 2 per cent.; 6 months, 3½ per cent.; 3 months, 4 per cent. Discounts : 3 months' bills, 6 to 6½ per cent.; 4 months', 7 per cent.; overdrafts, 7 to 7½ per cent. Exchange rates on London are now quoted :—

| At 3 days' sight in p.c. discnt. | ½ per cent. premium | |
| 10 days' sight | 12s 6d p.m. disc. | 10s per cent. premium |

The rates for colonial and intercolonial exchanges are as follow :—On New South Wales, 2s per cent.; Broken Hill, ½; Wilcannia, ½; on Queensland, as far north as Rockhampton, ½; Townsville, ½; north of Townsville, 1; Western Australia, ½; South Australia, ½; Victoria, ¼; Tasmania and South Australia, ½; Western Australia, North, and Fremantle, ½; Cue, Coolgardie, Geraldton, and Roebourne, 1½; other parts of Western Australia, 1; New Zealand, ½ per cent.

The following table shows the Bank of England figures, quotations for Consols and New South Wales 4½ per cents., and money market rates and prices of principal Australian commodities in comparison with the figures for the years 1893 and 1894 :—

The Bank of England figures still show a strong position even in comparison with that of last year. Money market rates are lower than they were. Goschen's Consols are once again over 105, pointing to the probability of the Chancellor of the Exchequer being able to get a 2½ per cent. loan for naval construction purposes. Our own 3½ per cent. stocks are approaching the highest prices current for years back. Silver, copper, and wool are the figures of 1894. Tin and wheat do not compare so unfavourably as they did a few weeks back. Still there is room for improvement, for about this time last year prices were getting near their lowest levels. The comparison with the figures of 1893 continues very unfavourable.

During the past week the monthly wool sales were held, and the favourable news from Europe since the last month's business gave a firm tone to the market. The catalogues comprised 4900 bales, and the sales at auction and privately amounted to 7150 bales. The total shipments from Newcastle and Sydney since the 1st of July amounted to 721,223 bales, being an increase of 29,905 bales on the corresponding period of last year.

The average liabilities and assets of the Bank of New South Wales within the colony include the following figures :—Notes in circulation, £470,091 [£456,021]; deposits not bearing interest, £4,076,358 [£4,168,364]; deposits bearing interest, £5,648,980 [5,571,474]; coin and bullion, £2,340,955 [£2,116,860]; advances (including £1,922,125, balances due from branches), £8,692,940 [£10,860,284, including £1,908,924, balances due from branches].

It is definitely announced that Queensland is issuing a 3½ per cent. loan of £1,250,000. The minimum is fixed at 97½. As the first six months' interest will be payable on the 1st July, at least £1 of accrued interest is given to the investor, the exact amount not being apparent. At a minimum of 96½, and probably less, we are not surprised to learn that the success of the loan is assured. The current ½ per cent. loan was quoted at 99½ net on Saturday, the difference between that and the net minimum being the amount of the premium at which stock of the new issue is quoted on the London market. In any case the result of the new loan is likely to be much more satisfactory than that of the last loan of £1,182,400, raised in January, 1893, at a net average of £87 19s 1d.

The municipal district of Braidwood is advertising for a loan of £1250, at 4½ per cent., repayable in 1901.

Mr. Moreton Frewen lectures on Monday evening before the Institute of Bankers on the currency question, in the large hall of the Equitable Building.

IMPORT MARKET.

The principal movement to be noted in our usual weekly record is the advance in kerosene, New York cables having advised a further rise of 2d per gallon since last week, with an excited market. Locally business has been done at 1s 4d for fair parcels of duty-paid oil, and in bond 10½d is quoted. Local stocks are fairly large, and the Sawona, with 32,630 cases, is about due. The advance, however, has checked indenting, so that, later on, some local scarcity may be expected unless shipments are speedily resumed. An improved demand has been noted for fencing wire, without change in prices. Tinplates have also had a good deal of attention, and all the quicksilver available has been promptly taken up at current rates. Prices of jute goods have been firmly maintained, and castor oil, in sympathy with other Eastern products, shows an upward tendency. Hennessy's brandy has become scarce, and the price of three-star has advanced 6d to 1s. Dried fruits have been firm, and show, if anything, an upward tendency. The market for tea has been firm, but not a great deal of business has been noted. Sugar has had a steady trade on the basis of the company's quotations. Breadstuffs have had a dull and quiet market.

Our cables respecting the European and American wheat markets are of an encouraging character. In London there has been an advance of 6d per quarter, and the American market is also rising. At New York the spot quotation of No. 2 red winter wheat is 64½ cents per bushel, against 60½ cents cabled four weeks ago.

The Mackay Sugar Journal has reduced its estimate of the next Queensland crop of sugar to 102,000 tons. In January its estimate was 110,000 tons. The decrease is accounted for by deficiency of warmth in the weather and by the ravages of the grub pest. So far the prospect of any serious over-production of Queensland sugar is not very alarming, the consumption of the Australasian colonies being about 170,000 tons annually.

The Customs revenue received at Sydney today amounted to £3566. The principal items were :—

Spirits, £180 ; wine, still, £40 ; wine, sparkling, £52 ; tobacco and snuff, £110 ; cigars, £85 ; sugar, unrefined, £515. Specific duties : Fruits, crude, £40 ; hay and chaff, £11 ; oil, kerosene, £25 ; preserves, £15. Ad valorem 10 to 40 p.c. duties : 15 per cent., £2 3. Bonded warehouses, 12 Vic., No. 19, £6. Total, £3566.

"Like a scarlet floeco the snow-field spreads,
And the icy founts run free,
And the bergs begin to bow their heads,
And plunge and sail in the sea."

It is reported that the North Pole has been reached. The North-west Passage, the dream of so many, could not be accomplished. In the attempt what suffering has been endured! How many valuable lives sacrificed! A short time sees the Pole was nearly reached by a Whaler from Scotland. But few there are who will not say that the honour has fallen in the right direction—a son of an old and brave Maritime Nation. Long will live the memory of and his brave and hardy few that have just set eyes upon the Northern Axis of the Earth.

We could say much more on this subject, but the memory of a SUPERB ARTICLE
Made in the Southern Hemisphere is yet to be better known.
It has been said that a Yankee would be discovered when the North Pole was first seen
"Striking for Ile."
But the NANSEN
that first reaches the SOUTHERN POLE
will be guided by the Active Volcanoes in that region, and a

that it even lends itself to

At present it can be had of

If undertaking an Antarctic Expedition, or even the Weather you have had during the Easter Holidays may be sufficient to bring on a COLD OR COUGH, and then is THE TIME TO TAKE DR.
